

The Love Is....

-PBC

From my perspective, love is the most beautiful feeling in the world.

It is true fondness that can bring around strain.

The authentic tenderness is an emotion of contentment,
That can create a fantasy of cheeriness.

Love is less about affairs, as romantic emotions are always in flux.

Concerning each other, displays of affection grow into the base for all our emotions.

Handling fury is essential between two people, as it requires being curbed.

The two souls forge faith to share their emotions, but the confidential verity will be concealed.

If the person truly desires to present their love, so,
On what account the confidential reality is hidden.